Closed Loop Protection for Bigger Projects

► What is it and what does it do?

The SaftFlo® System for Large Containers engineers every connection and dispensing point to enforce total containment until the product is ready to be dispensed from the container. The system for large containers both vents for proper flow and contains the product to ensure the ultimate safety and protection throughout the product life cycle.

RD Industries has a wide variety of options for our large container line so that your chemical management program can be designed with a variety of modifications or optimum performance with your containers and your chemical. Additionally, RDI has engineered the largest variety of sizes for larger container openings on the market today - all the way up to 70mm pail lid openings.
